

THIS CHRISTMAS, WONDER THE LAND OF SKY

Let these “Norman Rockwell” towns of Western North Carolina warm up your heart and spirit with Christmas lights.

ITINERARY ONE

While sun is getting ready to settle down over the Great Smokies, let your holiday spirit warm up as your tour bus strolls around LAKE JUNALUSKA, a lake "resort" town, surrounding a 200-acre lake. Charming and historic, Lambuth Inn, built in 1921 and on the National Register of Historic Places, is decorated every lavishly every Christmas. The Junaluska Cross, twenty-five foot high sitting on five foot stone base, is one of the popular location for scenic view. Your next stop will be the MAIN STREET OF WAYNESVILLE, largest North Carolina town west of Asheville. Perfect harmony of historic buildings, brick sidewalk with trees decorated with lighted balls.

JACKSON COUNTY Courthouse, known as the most photographed courthouse in North Carolina, sits on a hill of Christmas trees in SYLVA. Over one hundred steps leading to its front portico, the historic courthouse will give your group a breathtaking view of this “all American small town”. Sylva is also your stop for dinner this evening. “Guadalupe Café” (meaning locally grown raw food used to create delicious taste sensations) would be one of the many choices. Mouth-watering menu items are endless and choices include: Red Curry Shrimp, Blackened Plantains, Peanut Chicken and Mango Pork Tacos. Guadalupe also serves a diverse selection of wines, from Spain and Latin-America, as well as brews from across the nation to right down the street. In downtown Sylva, several buildings had their facades transformed for locations in the movie including transforming downtown for the 2018 Oscar nominated movie “Three Billboards Outside Ebbing.”
